A NEW KINGDOM BORN TO WORLD

Norwegian People Ask King Oscar To Aid Them In Selecting Their New King--Provincial Government Formed.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Christiana, June 7.—The Storting today declared the union between Norway and Sweden under one King was dissolved and that King Oscar ceased to act as King of Norway. The Storting empowered the present state council to act as a government for Norway.

No Ill Will
The address to King Oscar adopted declared that no ill will is entertained against him or his dynasty or the Swedish nation, and asking him to cooperate with the selection of a young prince of the house of Bernadotte to occupy the throne of Norway.

government informed the Storting that it relinquished office from today. The Storting thereupon unanimously adopted the following resolution: "Whereas, All the members of the council of state have laid down their offices; and, Whereas, His Majesty, the King, has declared himself unable to establish a new government for the country; Whereas, Constitutional and legal power thus becomes inoperative, The Storting authorizes the members of the council of state who retired today to exercise until further notice as the Norwegian government power appertaining to a King in accordance with Norway's constitution and the existing laws with those changes necessitated by the fact of the union with Sweden under one King is dissolved in consequence of the King having ceased to act as a Norwegian King." M. Michelson, retiring premier, accepted in behalf of the government, the task entrusted. It is expected the Storting will issue a proclamation to the people.

No Violence
London, June 7.—The Times correspondent at Christiania says on good authority the statement that Sweden has indirectly assured Norway no forcible measures will be employed to keep her within the bounds of the present union, is correct.

Makes Objection
Stockholm, June 7.—King Oscar sent a telegram to Premier Michelson as follows: "Have received the communication of the council of state and record a most decided protest against the method and government."

The History
Norway cannot be said to have had people with Harold Fairhair as King since the death of Hakon, who died in 1319, the crown of Norway passing upon his death to Sweden and later to Denmark. The early history of Norway is written on the whole continent of Europe. Its history is obscure until the sixth century, when mention is made of the Norsemen in the annals of historians. In 793 the sea-rovers, the Norsemen, invaded and plundered England and later Rollo founded the colony in Normandy, from which afterwards came the Kings of England. In the ninth century we find the Kingdom of Dublin in Ireland founded by the Norse and along the whole west coast of Scotland are direct traces of their sovereignty.

A United People
It was not until the Ninth century that the Norse were united as one people with Harold Fairhair as King. The petty quarrelling, the sea fights, the world-wide roving of the chiefs, the settlement of Ireland, the discovery of America by Lief Erickson, the famous battle of King Olaf and his Long Serpent against his rebel earls, the rule of Hardrahan, the invasion of Denmark, the fights with Sweden, the voyages to Jerusalem, have all left their imprint upon European history. In 1397 Norway joined the Calmar union and its identity was lost as a separate nation.

Denmark and Sweden
United in this Calmar union were Norway, Denmark and Sweden and the Swedish tributaries of Finland and Lapland. When the trouble came between Denmark and Sweden in the 16th century Norway remained with Denmark and from then until the readjustment of the nations after the Napoleonic wars it was allied both in government and subjection to this nation. The separation of Sweden from this union came through the religious wars that convulsed Europe during the sixteenth century. In this struggle Norway played a minor part, aiding Denmark in her troubles, although it retained in form its own habits and language.

Sweden
Interwoven with the present history of these two countries is the story of Bernadotte, the private soldier of France who rose from the ranks to be marshal of the Empire under Napoleon, Crown Prince of Sweden in 1810 and later its King and from whom the present ruler of Sweden—Oscar the Second—is descended. Sweden had passed through the struggles of the sixteenth and succeeding centuries safely. It had lost its tributaries of Lapland and

CROWN PRINCE GUSTAV.

Finland, its soldiers under Gustavus Adolphus had surprised the world and during the French revolution its King had been most anxious to form an alliance with Russia and Austria to resist Louis the Sixteenth on the French throne. It was perhaps due to this fact that Napoleon treated Sweden as a conquered nation, inflicting dignities upon it. Bernadotte, his field marshal and relative by marriage, being chosen as Crown Prince when Charles the Thirteenth was childless, was under his power and Napoleon forced him to declare war against England. Later Bernadotte joined with Russia and rendered valuable service with his troops in driving the French Corps back from the north. In 1814 he was in a position to force Denmark to give up Norway.

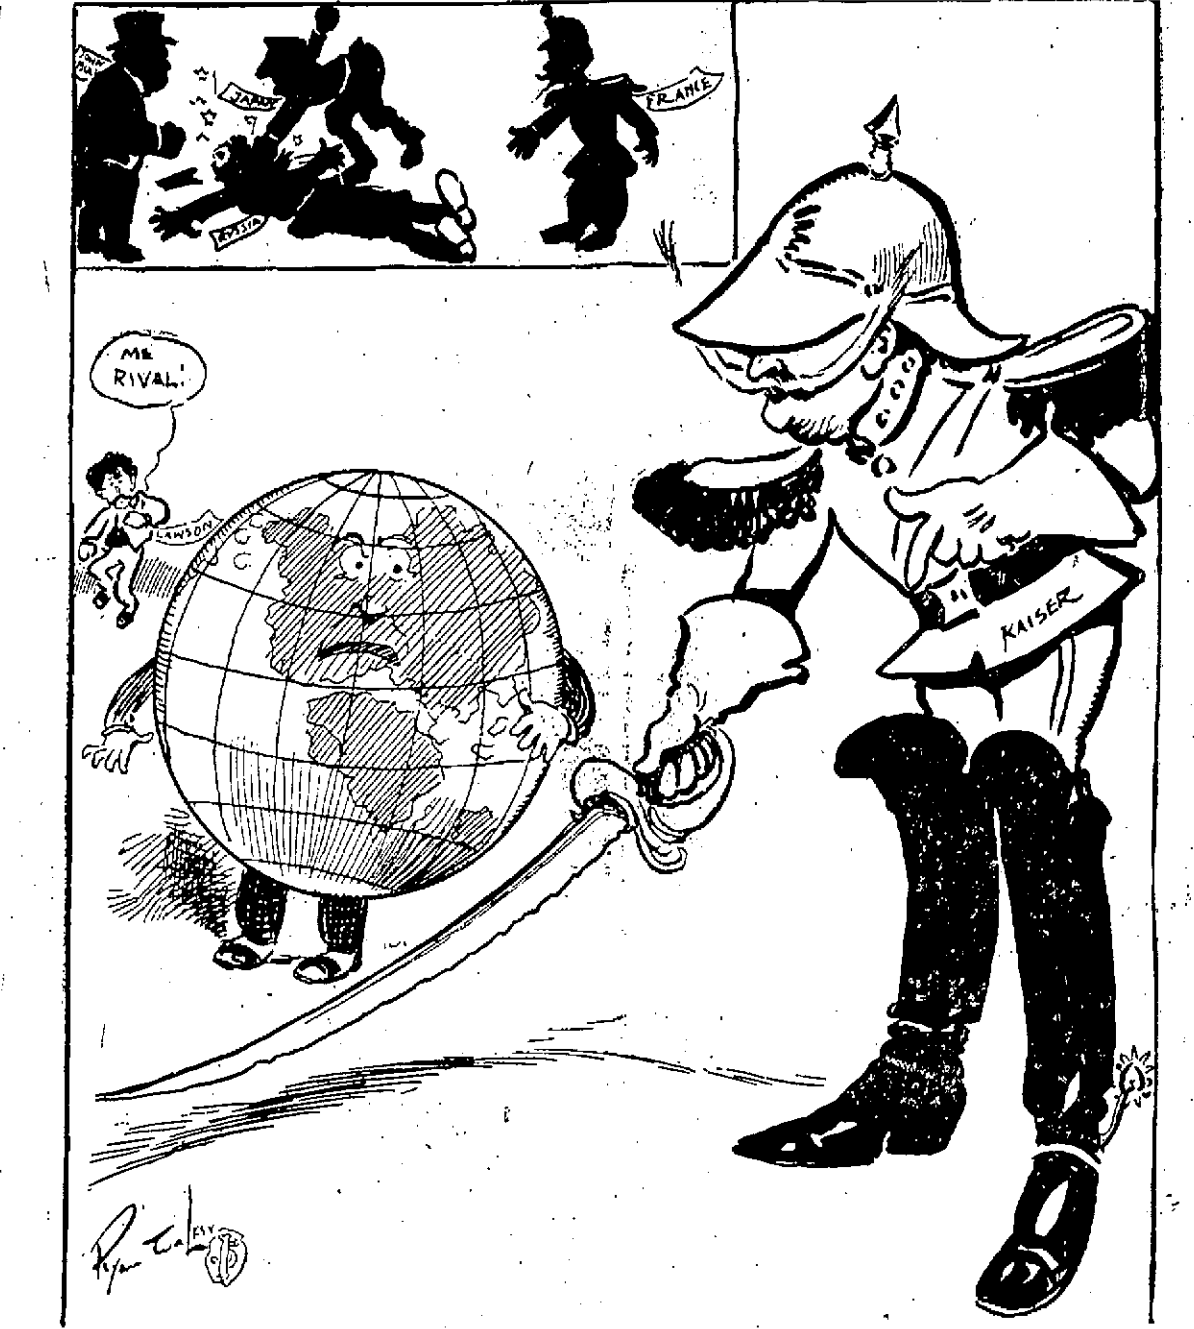

Conquered Norway
Between the months of July and November he completely subjected Norway and the union between these countries brought about by treaty and sword was recognized by the treaty of Vienna in the same year. From that time until today the two nations have been governed by a Swedish King descended from a French soldier. One serious trouble which threatened the separation of these two countries came during the reign of Charles the fifteenth who ascended the throne in 1859 and was only averted by the tact of the King. The present, King Oscar the Second, ascended to become the King of the rejuvenated state that he has been asked to name the Prince of his house who the throne in 1872. The press disseminated Kingdom of Norway.

LINOVITCH WILL FIGHT ON.
Headquarters of the Russian Army, Godzyadani, Manchuria, June 7.—Undismayed by Rojstevsky's defeat and full of confidence as to the outcome of the approaching battle, Lieut. Gen. Linovitch is for war to the bitter end, and he believes that the Manchurian army is now strong enough to assume the aggressive.

To a question as to whether he was for war or peace, the commander-in-chief replied firmly:

"Most certainly I am for war. I am a soldier. The emperor's will is naturally my law, but my voice now as before is for the continuance of the fight."

"With the destruction of our fleet vanishes, of course, the hopes of those who at the beginning of the war wished to make peace at Tokyo, but our defeat at sea has not interfered with my plans—absolutely not one whit. I consider myself strong enough now not only to hold my ground, but even to advance."

"I am no prophet, and have no desire to be one, but I firmly believe that I can and will defeat the Japanese in Manchuria."

"I have asked the war office to send me reservists of the youngest classes instead of older ones, not because the latter make poor soldiers, but because with plenty of young and vigorous reservists it would be unjust as well as inadvisable to call the older men from their more settled life."

AMERICAN COPPER IN CHINESE COINS

Japan Will Use Her Own Supply for Copper—Coinage—China Will Have To Buy Here.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, June 7.—The copper trade has been considerably checked by the announcement that the Japanese government has decided to issue within the near future a copper coinage for the province of Corea, which will require as large a tonnage as that which is still being made by the Chinese government. The news, which has just reached here from Tokio justifies the most sanguine predictions regarding the continuance of Chinese buying in the American copper markets, regardless of the ending of the Russo-Japanese war. As the bulk of the output of the Japanese mines will now be needed to supply this proposed Corean coinage, the Chinese government will be unable to satisfy its needs in the Japanese market, hence their requirements will have to be covered in the United States.

WASHOUTS CAUSE MANY DELAYS

Six Men Are Killed and Nineteen
Are Severely Injured as the Result of Wrecks on Roads.

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—In wrecks caused by washouts on the Grand Trunk, Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee and Pere Marquette railroads six men were killed and nineteen severely injured. The dead: W. Alvord, engineer Pere Marquette road; H. Payne, fireman Pere Marquette road; W. C. Everett, engineer Grand Trunk road; Albert Carl, fireman Grand Trunk; C. W. Crangow, engineer Grand Trunk; J. E. Graham, Grand Trunk bridge foreman.

The Grand Trunk wreck occurred near Pewam when a construction train struck a washout and went into the ditch. The accident on the Pere Marquette was due to a similar cause and occurred near Ionia. The Pere Marquette and Grand Rapids and Indiana railroads were unable to move a train north Tuesday. The Pere Marquette had no less than thirty washouts along its line, some of them 200 feet long. To the east the situation was little better. Neither the Pere Marquette, Grand Rapids and Indiana, Grand Trunk or Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee was able to move trains because of washouts.

ROCKFORD AND 17-YR. LOCUSTS

FOREST CITY GREATLY EXCITED OVER ADVENT.

CALL ON ENTOMOLOGISTS

Who Endeavor to Quiet Their Fears of a Plague That is Expected To Beat Egypt to a Standstill.

Down in Rockford the inhabitants have become greatly excited over the advent of the seventeen-year locusts and residents have been flocking to the fields to dig the cicada out of fence corners and the roots of trees and proclaim of a plague that will outclass the storied devastation of Egypt. The excitement has come to such a pass that a special session of the city council may be called at any time, meanwhile entomologists have been called in and on the basis of their testimony the press is trying to quiet the fears of an overwrought populace. Thomas M. Irish writes to the Register-Gazette concerning the genus "septendecim," the hemipterous heaped with the jointed proboscis.

What he says is interesting because he defends and champions the insect.

"From present indications," he says, "a very common and very humble insect is about to dispute the claim of Togo to public attention. I allude to the widely-known and justly celebrated 17-year locust. This poor bug affords a striking instance of the evil effect of applying a bad name to an individual. He is not a locust, nor is he even remotely related to that destructive tribe which we have with us in the various kinds of grasshoppers.

"On the other hand, he belongs to a family of insects that with few exceptions do all their eating during the larval stage of their development. The cicada obtains its food by means of a short beak through which it can suck the juices of plants after piercing the tender bark, just as the mosquito sucks the blood of its victim after piercing the skin with its lancet-like beak.

"The cicada, or 17-year locust, passes its larval or infantile stage underground, where it obtains its food from the roots of trees and shrubs. "When its larval growth is perfected it runs a shaft up to the surface, and when fully ready to undergo its final transformation, it emerges generally during the night, or very early in the morning, and, seeking a suitable place it casts off its pupa case and crawls forth a perfect insect.

"This nocturnal habit of transformation adds to the mystery attending the appearance of these insects, and causes the belief that they have come by migratory flight, as do the real locusts, but a little observation intelligently directed will convince one that the theory of migration is wrong.

"Indeed, the fact that this insect does not migrate is so well established that entomologists have mapped the exact boundaries of each colony of the 17-year locust, and so slight are the migratory powers, or rather instincts of this insect, that the boundaries so established have not materially changed.

"No doubt we shall soon hear of the wholesale destruction of vegetation by this harmless bug. Fatal cases of poisoning from its sting will excite fear and wonder, but a very cursory examination of the insect should convince the observer that it possesses a structure that renders it incapable of doing any of the truly awful acts ascribed to it.

"In fact the cicada does not eat after it arrives at its adult age. It lives only three or four days at most, after the female has deposited her eggs she almost immediately dies.

"The only harm that these insects do to vegetation results from the breaking of a few small twigs of trees and shrubs that have been weakened by the grooves made by the ovipositor of the female in depositing her eggs.

"The cicada is an interesting subject for study. Its structure is easily observed, and children might learn much by careful examination. Let me urge the young people to devote a little time during these pleasant June days to the study of this entirely harmless visitor that will be with us again until the children of today will be men and women, and some of them possibly ready to add to the long list of Munchausen yarns that crop out of every visit of 17-year locusts."

The P. J. Potter state bank of Bowling Green, Ky., which was organized twenty days ago, has decided to liquidate and quit business.

REAL HAVANA FOR FIVE CENTS.

Smith Drug Co. at Last Find a Nickel Cigar Worth Smoking.

When Smith Drug Co., who probably have the largest sale for high grade cigars of any dealer in Janesville, heard that a long Havana filler cigar was being retailed for 5c, they were naturally incredulous. As they wanted to give their customers the best cigars for the least money they got a sample box of the Wadsworth Bros. Chicos.

The samples were all right and they ordered a trial 1,000 to see how they would please their trade. The result was wonderful, as men who had been buying ten and fifteen cent cigars said they preferred the Chicos. It is a good and satisfactory smoke with a clear Havana aroma. Try a Chico today and you will enjoy it, if you like a good cigar.

EMBROIDERED CLOTH ROBES.

Despite the well advanced season for the display of smart gowns, it is not too late in the minds of ultra-swell couturieres to display elegantly embroidered cloth robes. The cloth, however, is of the lightest weight with a lustrous finish which adds much to the beauty of the hand-work lavishly put on them.

A design in vieux rose chiffon, Venetian—one of the smartest of the new cloths—is exquisitely embroidered. The effect of the model is princess, only the closest scrutiny revealing the fact that the light and rather medieval top, with its embroidered lower edge extended down over the sheath-fitting skirt is not one piece with it. The sleeves are short and wide; at a little above the elbow they open and there can be seen several ruffles of delicate white lace, which form the upper portion of a sleeve of all-over embroidery.

The skirt is embroidered down the front, with the trimming extending around the sides outlining a graduated flounce. Around the bottom there are applied tucked bands of rose silk headed with a delicate tracery of embroidery.

The costume is finished with a jaunty little hat of sailor design, turned up smartly at the back and trimmed only with two rosettes of cream lace placed on either side, with a band of rose velvet running around the base of the crown. Under the brim the idea is repeated, there being also a rosette of the velvet.

The fashionable silks, all of which are soft, graceful and supple, lend themselves charmingly to the smart embroideries. They are daintily trimmed with the decoration or self-embroidered. A new recruit has been added to the smart laces; it takes the form of narrow insertions, formed of embroidered figures alternating with medallions of lace, so skillfully interwoven that they seem of one design. The trimming is used for a delicate rose silk frock finished with a narrow flounce of lace, above which are three bands of the lace-embroidery on the skirt. About the knees there are three bands of the trimming arranged at intervals of about six inches apart, with a medallion of fine French embroidery centered in the intervening space.

The lace-embroidery, inscribed, it is cut out in square effect at the bust line and filled in with a vest of finest white linen with two lace edged ruffles, which protrude over the border of the blouse nearly to the top of the high girle. The sleeves are puffs of the silk inset with the insertion finished with a tiny lace ruffle on the lower edge. At the elbows they are met with long silk gloves, there being no cuff.

All of the short coats, of which there are so many for all fabrics and occasions, come under the head of boleros. Of course there are light fitting and loose-fitting boleros, box-boleros, basque and Elton boleros, but the general outline is the same, with the difference in the trimming. Certainly no form of this fashionable little jacket is more popular than the loose bolero and if it is well-made, it is exceedingly chic.

A border of raised embroidery is one of the smartest trimmings that can be applied to one of these coats, and additional elegance can be gained by extending the trimming up the back and on either side of the front. If the embroidery is done by the wearer herself, all is well and good, otherwise, with the back and front of the bolero so decorated it means quite an item in addition to the original cost of the garment.

The shorer coat is more generally becoming than the redingote, but the latter has its virtues. Careful mold and tight fit demands a well-formed figure, whether it be stout or slight, and nothing gives it a more dashing finish than one of the saucy tip-tailed little hats trimmed with two erect wings or a "shaving brush."

Black silk coats with velvet collars and cuffs are much the rage, especially for automobilizing and traveling. These coats are also shown made more elaborately with shirred girdle effects about the waist and revers of lace and embroidery. The skirts are long and finished either with deep tucks or applied folds of the same material. Self-trimming is one of the cheapest and it can be artistically arranged by the woman with "ideas." Next come the wide varieties of silk braids which range from a few cents to several dollars in cost.

GOSPEL MEETINGS UNDER TABERNACLE

Big Evangelistic Gatherings Will Be Conducted by Rev. Hammer, South of Janesville.

Big evangelistic meetings held under a large tabernacle are in prospect for the district south of the city in and around Shopiere. These will be commenced either the fifteenth or sixteenth of this month and will be conducted by Rev. W. C. Hammer of Evanston, Ill., assisted by Rev. A. C. Jett of Shopiere, who will have charge of the singing. Rev.

Hammer is an evangelist of wide reputation, an attractive speaker and a man who has had twenty-five years experience in the work which he is now pursuing. The tabernacle will be reared near the La Prairie chapel and the meetings will continue indefinitely for two or three weeks. They will commence at eight o'clock each evening and it may be that a cordial invitation is extended to all. Reverends Hammer and Jett recently conducted a similar series of meetings in Indiana with great success and their efforts will doubtless be largely rewarded in this community.

They are all of standard periodicals and will in some cases create new sets, complete partial sets or take the places of those that have by usage been worn out. Fourteen of these were the gift of Miss Watson of the State school for the blind and seventy-four were from H. F. Bliss.

Willie Anderson of Rye, New York, Expects to Gain Championship.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] St. Andrews, June 7.—The open championship of Great Britain which began over the links of the St. Andrews Golf Club today promises to be the most hotly contested event ever witnessed here. Much interest is manifested in Willie Anderson, the Apawamis Club (Rye, N. Y.) professional open champion of the United States. Anderson is unquestionably the most consistent professional player in America and expects to take off the honors in the British event.

ORPHAN CHILDREN GIVEN AUTO RIDES

Many Rich Car Owners in Large Cities Walk or Ride Behind.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, June 7.—It is not at all unlikely that the plan of the New York Motor Club, which today give automobile rides to over 7,000 orphan children of this city, will become national and have the sanction of the American Automobile Association. The fact that Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other large cities are also giving this treat to poor children today, lends flavor to the report that this plan will be adopted. The automobiles are lent for the occasion by all owners belonging to the national body and the rich of this city today either ride in carriages driven by horses, or walked.

BELOIT DEFEATED BY OSHKOSH TEAM

About Three Hundred Spectators Witnessed Base Ball Game at Athletic Park Yesterday.

About 300 spectators saw the contest between the Oshkosh and Beloit State league baseball teams at Athletic field yesterday afternoon. Morley, a former Beloit College boy, was in the box for the Line City and Paul pitched for the Oshkosh aggregation. Beloit secured two runs on Spoellette's two-base hit in the second inning and Moore for Oshkosh made a three-bagger in the last half of the fourth. It brought in the first run for the Oshkosh, but with this beginning they began to find Morley in the fifth and netted three more runs. The sixth inning closed with the score a tie but costly errors by Shortstop Mohr of Beloit subsequently permitted some more runs for Oshkosh and the game ended 8 to 4 in the latter's favor. The managers of both teams—Morris Crall for Oshkosh and George Wilbur for Beloit—are former Janesville men. The lineup of the players was as follows:

PICNIC AT CHESBRO'S PARK

Miss Orrie Hoague of District No. 1 Receives Common School Diploma.

Last Friday was a day that will be long remembered by the pupils of the Burr Oak school in the town of Fulton and their parents and invited guests as well. The day was pleasantly passed by them at Chesbro's park, an ideal spot on Rock river, and the weather was perfect. Miss Lulu Macdonald, teacher in a district adjoining Burr Oak, and her pupils also participated in the celebration. During the program, arranged for the occasion, Miss Orrie Hoague of the Burr Oak school was presented with a common school diploma, an honor not easily won. Miss Anna Ross, who has just completed her fourth term of teaching at Burr Oak, was given an elegant ring as a token of appreciation by her scholars. It completely surprised Miss Ross and she expressed her hearty thanks in a few well-chosen words. A feast, bountiful and toothsome with an abundance of ice cream and lemonade, had been prepared by the older persons present, and one hundred and twenty-five enjoyed the repast. Swings and rowboats helped in making the remainder of the day pass enjoyably.

New York.—Ever since the North-easterns fight began five years ago the bone of contention, or rather one of the big bones of contention between the Union Pacific and the Northern Pacific was the division of the Clearwater country which lies in the northwest corner of Idaho along the Oregon and Washington State lines; one of the surest signs of harmony between the Hill-Harriman forces is the announcement that the Northern Pacific and Oregon Short Line intends building jointly a road several hundred miles into the Nez Perces country, which is the territory known as the "Clearwater Sight." During the litigation, neither road took steps to enter the country, although both were ready to invade it and now that a definite plan has been decided upon, a large amount of traffic will be developed from its timber and mineral resources.

To prevent a comp by the Rock Island and the Lake Shore in the matter of carrying through mails to Colorado common points, the Pennsylvania system has established a twenty-five hour train between New York and St. Louis, putting the time between the two cities about four hours. The Pennsylvania's new train leaves New York at 8 a. m. and arrives in St. Louis at 7:55 a. m., in time to permit the mail to go out on either the Wabash or the Missouri Pacific at 9 or 9:30.

The Illinois Central has begun to install an electrical interlocking device on 600 miles of the main track, and plans to extend it over the entire system. The device consists of an electrical arrangement in each tower which prevents the operator from changing his own signal until the man in the next station releases the lock.

The Pere Marquette railroad will retaliate on the Canadian government on account of the deportation of thirteen of its officials at St. Thomas and London, Ontario, under the alien labor law, by removing its division offices from those points to Detroit and Buffalo. The officials were deported because with the new American law, the Pere Marquette will also probably displace with the services of Canadians employed within the United States and other American roads may follow suits.

A complete understanding has been arrived at between the Goulds and the United States Steel corporation, whereby the Wabash railroad will, within a few months, be enjoying $7,000,000 worth of steel tonnage out of Pittsburg. In order that the Wabash may enjoy one-quarter of all the tonnage originated by the steel company it will be necessary to connect the Union railway with the belt line recently purchased by the Goulds.

The Denver, Northwestern & Pacific has put through a scheme which may effectually checkmate the plans of the federal government for building a reservoir in Gore canon. This was accomplished by buying right of way into the eastern end of the canon. The plot consists of less than 10 acres. It is 400 feet wide and 1,977 feet long.

The Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co. of Kansas City, has been awarded the contract for the Belen, cutoff, which will save the Santa Fe twelve hours between Chicago and the Pacific coast, obliterate a 7,000-foot elevation over Gloria and Eaton mountains in New Mexico and entirely change the route of the Santa Fe line through Kansas, causing through trains to go by way of Wichita, Wellington and Texico instead of by way of Hutchinson and Colorado, as at present. The work will entail an expenditure of over $6,000,000.

Railway companies operating in Washington are calling in all annual passes and other free transportation, owing to a new state law prohibiting the issuance of such favors.

CORN CROP IS NOW AT A STANDSTILL

Weather Bureau Report Says Some Fields Washed Out and Ground Is Too Wet to Cultivate.

United States Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Service of the Weather Bureau, Wisconsin Section, Report for the week ending Monday, June 5.—The past week has been very favorable for growth, but in most sections of the State farm work has been delayed by the heavy rains. Heavy rains occurred, especially in the southern portion of the State, early in the week, flooding low lands and washing grain fields in many localities. On Thursday severe thunderstorms were prevalent over the State, accompanied with high winds and in many localities hail. The damage by hail was generally slight. Vegetation is well advanced, except along the eastern border of the state, where the influence of the lake has kept the temperature below that required for rapid growth. The soil is thoroughly saturated with moisture and warm weather while full sunshine is needed to bring crops forward rapidly. Light frosts were reported from some localities.

Winter grains: Winter rye is heading out well, with a good growth of straw in most sections. Wheat is making rapid advancement toward maturity. These crops are generally in very promising condition. Spring grains: Oats, barley, spring wheat, and spring rye are generally in excellent condition except on low lands, where an over supply of moisture has retarded growth.

Corn: The planting of corn is generally completed in the southern counties and early plantings are up. No attempt has been made to cultivate corn as the soil is too wet to work, and the fields are becoming weedy. In the central and northern sections planting is well under way, but not yet completed. Considerable replanting has been necessary on account of the continued cold, wet weather.

Potatoes: Early plantings are coming up nicely, but the bulk of the late crop has not yet been planted. The ground is prepared, and with a few days of warm, dry weather a large acreage will be in.

Grass and pasture have made rapid progress during the week and a large hay crop now seems assured. Clover is especially heavy. Pastures are furnishing an abundance of feed. Tobacco: The ground for tobacco is generally prepared and some planting has been done. The plants as a rule are strong and healthy.

Minor crops: The sowing of sugar beets has been delayed by the rains. Preparations for buckwheat are well advanced. Gardens are generally in good condition.

Fruit: Strawberries are in very promising condition and a large crop is anticipated. Cranberries have not been damaged by frost. The water supply is abundant. Apple, pear, plum, and cherry trees are in promising condition.

Extracts of Correspondents' Reports Madison, Dunn county: Occasional showers during the week kept corn ground in excellent condition; wheat not warm enough for corn.—John L. Libby.

Dunbarton, Lafayette county: Fine week for farm work, and farmers working their early corn; light frost Friday night; pastures good; clover looks fine.—F. Blackburn.

Tiffany, Rock county: More than an inch of rain during the week; corn at a standstill, and some pieces being replanted, on account of cold, wet weather.—Chas. Wm. Stark.

East Troy, Walworth county: Weather favorable for crops, and corn planting nearly all done; early potatoes look fine; winter grain coming on rapidly.—W. S. Keats.

Burlington, Racine county: All crops making good growth; a few cornfields suffering from cut-worms; rye heading nicely; rain Thursday night.—N. F. Newberry.

McFarland, Dane county: Weather favorable for all growing crops; small grains and grass doing well; corn coming up nicely; sugar beets all planted.—E. Evans.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, June 7, 1865.—Fire.—The Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien depot at Watertown and several cars loaded with wheat were burned Monday night.

Gone to West Point.—B. B. Elbridge left this afternoon for West Point with his son who expects to enter that institution as a cadet.

Personal.—Hon. W. W. Field, of Grant County, late speaker of the Assembly, made a visit today. He reports Grant county in a flourishing condition, though much in need of rain.

Dead.—Rev. C. M. Fuller, father-in-law of Mrs. Crosby of this city who was recently injured at Delavan by a frightened horse, died last night.

Fourth of July.—There is to be an adjourned meeting of all those interested in celebrating the coming Fourth of July in a proper manner at the court room this evening. A full attendance is desired as it is not proposed by the gentlemen that have been named as committee men to do all the work unaided and unsustained by the citizens generally. There never was a time when a gen-nine, patriotic celebration would be so popular and so well enjoyed by the people generally at the present time, and all it needs is a little exertion in starting the ball. Self-government is no longer an experiment—it is an absolute fact just proven by a prolonged and civil war. Let us celebrate the birthday of the government in a fitting manner.

The News.—The report a few days since that the disunionists of Virginia had "swept the state" is denied by a Tribune correspondent. He asserts that the returns of the special election just held show the election of the union men in all counties heard from except Alexandria.

The latest European dates deny that President Johnson has renewed the demand of this government for damages done by the Alabama and other rebel pirates. The question remains where Mr. Lincoln left it.

Leading Southern journals contain editorials endeavoring to reconcile the people to lose their slaves, proving that they are benefited by the new order of things.

Jeff. Davis was placed in the irons for three days on account of his unruly conduct. His health being poor he has been allowed other rationals than those usually given prisoners.

NEW TREATMENT OF THE SAILOR SHAPE

Here a pale lilac sailor in a fine chip straw is trimmed with roses that run the gamut of natural shades, from a pale pink into a rich, deep red Jacqueminot. There is a deep band eau on the left side that lifts the hat high, and this is covered with a perfect conservatory of the var-colored roses, with velvet maidenhair fern, and some dark green velvet ribbon for relief. The crown is encircled with a sparse wreath of some grasses. In the odd brown tones that these assume in nature being beautifully reproduced; and just a spray or two of heliotrope tucked in here and there complete the color harmony. Two fluffy ostrich plumes start from the bandeau at the left side, the tip of one curling up over the brim to the crown, and the other wending its curly way to the low coiffure in the back, over which a coiffure hair net has been deftly drawn.

Auto Thieves Beware

American Motor League inaugurates Campaign Against Enemies of Owners.

To protect its members from the increasing danger of losing their automobiles by theft the officers of the American Motor League have devised a registry system under which the car of each member may be registered and described in detail and a "protection disk" attached to the car, thus notifying the professional culprit that an organized national body will urge his conviction and punishment if any theft is attempted.

Besides offering a reward of $100 for the conviction of the thief who steals an automobile, the A. M. L. offers a separate reward of $25 for a conviction leading to the punishment of any offender who maliciously injures the person or property of a member while on the public road.

The league has issued to its members the following announcement: "To Members of the American Motor League.—The A. M. L. protection disk tells its own story. It is shown (both sides) by accompanying cuts. It is covered with red leather and may be attached to the car without danger of scratching or marring the polished surface. The lettering is in gold and will not tarnish by exposure to the weather. The disk is three inches in diameter and is supplied with a strong red silk cord, by which it may be attached to any convenient part of the car.

"The league on learning of the theft of any registered automobile belonging to a member will immediately send notice and full description of the stolen car to the police authorities of towns within a radius of several hundred miles from the place of theft, with notice also of the reward offered for the conviction of the thief. The name and address of the owner of the stolen vehicle will be given and notice will be sent to him at once in case the thief is arrested or the vehicle recovered.

"Similar notices will be sent to the various dealers in secondhand machines, who will thereby be warned against the purchase of the stolen car and will thus be enabled to identify and detain the thief who offers the stolen property for sale.

"Notices with full information will also be sent to the automobile papers.

THE EXPRESS COMPANIES.

In these days of agitation, when all sorts of corporations are under a cloud, and success is considered more or less of a crime, the Express companies are favored with their share of criticism.

The stand taken by these companies in the Chicago strike has brought them prominently before the people and yellow journals of the "Examiner" type, have taken advantage of the opportunity to incite prejudice and stir up hatred among the laboring classes.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is also bitter in denunciation, while Mayor Dunne of Chicago, censures a grand jury, which does not endorse his weak and vacillating policy.

It is frequently said that Express companies are able to take care of themselves, and this is doubtless true, yet the fact should not be overlooked that they are public service corporations, and the work which they perform places them in closer touch with the people than any other private corporation doing business in this country.

The railroads, like the Express companies are also common carriers, but there is no time limit placed upon their service. The merchandise which they handle is not contracted for any particular train, and the shipper anticipates more or less delay.

Not so the Express service where clock-like regularity is not only expected, but demanded. It is more than a rapid transit service for it means prompt delivery, not only to business houses but to resident districts.

It means more than this for it is the only medium of transportation which attempts to stand between the shipper of valuables, of whatever nature, and loss. The man who holds an Express company's receipt for a shipment of $10,000 in currency, never worries about loss, whatever may happen to the shipment in transit.

This great system covers the country like a net, touching every village and hamlet, and entering the great commercial centers as one of the main arteries in business. Its mechanism is so perfect that friction is of rare occurrence.

The employees of this great system are noted for intelligence, courtesy, and honesty. Their business is to serve the public faithfully and impartially, and when they decline to do this, their services are no longer in demand.

The Express drivers of Chicago took upon themselves the responsibility of deserting the company in answer to the request of an organization which attempted to say that their services should be restricted to a certain class of customers.

The companies which employed them, know nothing about classes. Their business is to serve the general public, and if they should employ men who refuse to serve their large constituency, the general public would not stand it for a moment.

The Express companies are voicing public sentiment when they refuse to employ men who refuse to serve the public under any and all conditions.

The city of Chicago, while an important trade center, is simply an incident so far as the Express business is concerned. There are always two parties interested in a shipment of goods, the consignee and the consignor. A boycott on one is a boycott on the other and an equal injustice to both.

The attempt now being made to throttle certain lines of business in Chicago is an attempt to injure the business of the country, and the men engaged in it have no defence to offer and are not entitled to favors. The Express companies are right in the stand they have taken.

INTANGIBLE PROPERTY

The wealth of the country consists in two classes of property, namely real estate and personal property.

The first includes land with whatever is added in the way of permanent improvements.

This class of property is not difficult to locate because it stands out in the open where values are readily determined.

The property known as "personal" covers a much larger field, and much of it belongs to the intangible class, where it is difficult to draw the line between what should justly be subject to tax, and what should not.

The fact is generally recognized, that wealth is the result of thrift and economy, and these traits of character are so commendable that every encouragement is offered to develop them.

When a man has a few hundred dollars to his credit in the treasury of a life insurance company he is a property-owner of the intangible class. The same is true of the savings bank depositor, yet these two classes represent more than $5,000,000,000 in untaxable wealth, but no one complains.

There is another class of property known as the real estate mortgage, which belongs to the intangible class yet which constantly comes to the surface.

The state legislature is just now engaged in an effort to place this class of property on the tax rolls and its success crowns the effort, an injustice to the state will follow.

The great bulk of money loaned on real estate in Wisconsin is represented by men who have saved a few hundred or a few thousand dollars, and invest it in this class of securities.

In many cases the farmer sells his farm and takes a mortgage for a part of the purchase price. The mortgage has a fixed income of five or six per cent, while the farm which he sold continues to pay the same tax as before, but the product and increase in value belongs to the occupant, and he offers no complaint.

If the mortgage is taxed the holder does one of two things. He advances the rate of interest or demands payment of the principle. He soon discovers that money from other states is waiting to replace his loan at the old rate of interest, because not taxable, and so he retires from the field. The state gains nothing in the transaction, and no one is benefited.

There is another class of intangible assets with which no state has a right to interfere, and that is money on deposit in State and National banks, and yet the governor is one of his messages called attention to the fact that Wisconsin banks had on deposit $57,000,000 of this kind of money, while only $7,000,000 was found on the tax rolls, and the "elusive" $50,000,000 was busily engaged in dodging the assessor.

Any intelligent school boy would not care to risk his reputation on that kind of a proposition. The money on deposit in commercial banks is placed there for commercial purposes. It is the circulating medium, used in the daily routine of business for the convenience of the industrial and commercial world.

A glance at any bank statement discloses two prominent items. The one in the column of liabilities is called money due depositors, while the offset in the assets column reads loans and discounts. While these two items never balance it is always a noticeable fact that they are no farther apart than safety to good banking makes necessary.

If these two accounts could be analyzed it would be found that the list of depositors is largely duplicated in the list of borrowers. The man who deposits $1,000 today, may be owing the bank ten times that amount as is frequently the case. The $50,000,000 escaping taxation in Wisconsin is this kind of money. If there is any justice in taxing it, no one can give a reason for it except a radical and arrant reformer. The legislature will do well to exercise common sense in dealing with intangible property.

China is talking seriously about the closed door, not only to American products but to Americans as well. If there is any reason why an American should be permitted to land on Chinese soil, it has yet to be stated.

Shea, the Chicago strike-leader, is now in the hands of the law. He may have an opportunity to learn a few things which were neglected in his early education.

It may not be an easy thing to "sit on the lid" in Wisconsin, while occupying a chair in the Senate, but the Governor will be equal to the occasion.

The question now agitating society circles in London is how to acquire appendicitis. It is said that the "400" prefer it to a full page photograph in a magazine.

There is only one Nonesuch Bros. circus, and that winters and summers in Janesville without a bonus.

The people of Knapp never knew how great a citizen was in their midst, until after the death of A. R. Hall.

History develops so fast these days, that the pulpit and press find it difficult to keep pace with the procession.

When the new Exposition building is in place, the fire which destroyed the old structure will be considered a blessing by Milwaukee people.

Was the Ladysmith bank bigelowed, or what was the cause of the failure?

PRESS COMMENT.

Atchison Globe: After a man passes 40, there is something the matter with him if he still has women correspondents.

Milwaukee News: Anyway, Mr. Davidson may console himself with the reflection that he doesn't have to cut the grass on the executive lawn.

Exchange: Admiral Togo probably wishes there were no international restrictions to prevent him from getting at that Black sea fleet.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The old joke about sand in the sugar has long since gone into disuse, but it is no joke at all to say there is sand in the strawberries.

Minneapolis Journal: A correspondent says it cuts no ice with him even if a beautiful girl looks at him and hangs out her dimple. But what if she purrs

Boston Transcript: Twenty or more Vassar girls are said to be going to be married shortly after graduation. Such a noteworthy record again raises the question whether matrimony isn't after all, the final test of the higher education.

Chicago Record-Herald: When the skipper of the yacht Apache crossed the finish line he was doubtless surprised to learn that the race had been over for a week or two.

Madison Journal: If liberty shrieked when Kosciuszko fell, she revived a bit when three hundred citizens of Philadelphia stood in the office of Mayor Weaver and sang the "Star Spangled Banner" with their hats in their hands.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Not satisfied with jabbing the oil octopus with a high-keyed and emotional typewriter, Tom Lawson proposes to invade the lecture platform and add his voice and lungs to the bombardment.

Minneapolis Journal: One cannot help think that if Rojostevsky had won we should have had a more complete report. Togo is only a headliner. He must have gotten his training on a paper with a large advertising patronage.

Racine Journal: New York people are now proposing to drain Lake Erie by means of a monster tunnel bringing the waters of that lake to their doors, or else utilize the bed of the Erie canal for that purpose. They have already greatly reduced the flow of Niagara Falls and they may as well take everything else they see in sight.

Evening Wisconsin: Japan has been fighting in self-defense, and has deserved, as she has had, the sympathy of the progressive nations. Will she get the big head because she has won? Will she aim at conquering and oppressing? That remains to be seen. She has shown moderation so far. It is upon what she does, not upon what she is reported by her enemies to be thinking of doing, that she will be judged by the mass of humanity.

Hartford, Conn., Times. According to the stories which come from Philadelphia, many of the ninety or more members of the city councils who voted for the gas lease steal expected to make several thousand dollars apiece as a result of the expected rise in the stock of the United Gas Improvement Company. But when the scheme failed the shares fell in value from 125 to below par and the result has been to wipe out the margins which the corrupt councilmen had paid in order to secure their privileges. Thus instead of making money out of the transaction they have been severely punished.

Fond du Lac Reporter: The circus has come and gone. It took a fair amount of Fond du Lac money away with it, but it left considerable in the city. There is often an objection to circuses on the ground that they take money out of the community. In one respect this may be true. In another it is not. The circus this week attracted many people to the city and the merchants benefited thereby.

Milwaukee Free Press: It is said that the late Joe Jefferson was offered $5,000 a week by F. P. Proctor of New York, to appear in vaudeville for twenty-five minutes twice each day for six days in the week for a period of twelve weeks. It was suggested to him that he make use of a condensed version of "The Rivals" in the part of Bob Acres. Mr. Jefferson had "synd off altogether" at that time, but it was a better offer than many actors have had.

London Express: Whether we look to the dockyards which Japan has built for the making and repairing of her own fleet, to her strenuous maintenance of her own agriculture and industry or to her self-reliant retention of the financial responsibility for her own undertakings, we find revealed the same determination to stand independent and self-contained. It is a patriotism so comprehensive that it can stoop without loss of dignity to the consideration of the minutest detail and it holds the secret of the great future which seems to be opening up before the youngest of the nations.

Superior Telegram: According to reliable estimates, the cotton crop this year will aggregate about 10,000,000 bales. The yield will, however, be less than the south's total output for the preceding year, indicating that the reduced acreage campaign carried on by Hon. Harvie Jordan, under the auspices of the Southern Cotton Growers' association, has not been in vain. The elements have also aided in obtaining this diminution of cotton acreage, for in many of the extreme southern sections vast tracts of cotton lands have been flooded, making the cultivation thereof impossible for cotton this year.

Troy, New York, Times: The new woman seems to have "evolved" to the point where it is a matter of doubt as to which is now really the "weaker sex." At least, there are some women who evidently consider themselves physically superior to those who were once regarded as lords of creation. In all times of danger the safety of women and children has been supposed to be the first consideration. It is different now, at least in some quarters. "Save the men first!" was the cry of Mrs. Du Gast, owner and skipper of the motor-boat Camille, when the rescue party from the French warship got on board her poor little craft and snatched her and the rest of the crew from the violence of the sea. "Save the men first!" It sums up in a sentence the attitude of the emancipated women.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The juxtaposition of the names of Morton and Bonaparte, in connection with the cabinet, shows that the Republican party still has the power which it was famed for at its birth of attracting the young, alert, progressive men from all the other political organizations. Paul Morton, the head of the navy department, was a democrat until a few years ago. So was Charles J. Bonaparte, who succeeds him. Both are men in the early prime of life. Morton comes from a family which has been Democratic through generations. His father held office under a democratic administration, being secretary of agriculture in one of Cleveland's cabinets. None of the American Bonapartes has been a republican until the present member of that house changed his politics a few years ago. Each of these democrats of several generations of lineage at last found himself compelled to abandon the party of his fathers and come over to the party of progress.

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL NEWS.

Closes Business: L. S. Lange, the Chicago fruit-dealer who opened up a branch establishment here in February, has closed up the Janesville establishment and left the city.

Wreck at Watertown: A bad wreck is reported to have occurred at Watertown this morning. Rumor has it that fourteen freight-cars were derailed and other damage done. The wrecking crews and apparatus were called from this city, Milwaukee and Fond du Lac.

Echoes of the Storm: As a result of the storm of Monday night the Chippewa river, flowing through Eau Claire, rose twelve feet yesterday. The entire population is concerned over the rapid rise and lumbering interests at that point and along the length of the stream are threatened with ruin.

Snapping Dog Shot: A canine belonging to a South River street saloon-keeper was shot this morning by the owner after having bitten a person and snapped at several others. This is the third dog that has been killed in this neighborhood, and it was thought possible it might have been affected with rabies.

Touring-Car Party: A party of Delavan people consisting of Mrs. A. H. Kendrick, Mrs. E. N. Walker, wife of the superintendent of the State Institute for the deaf and dumb; Mrs. G. E. Barker and Adolph R. Stintz, arrived in the city in a large Maxwell touring-car this morning. A visit of several hours was made in Janesville.

Seth Fisher: The funeral of the late Seth Fisher was held this afternoon from the residence, 203 North Jackson street, at two o'clock. Rev. R. M. Vaughan officiating. The cortege went overland to the town of Center church, where services were held at four o'clock. Rev. Milton Wells officiating. The pallbearers were all relatives of the deceased. Burial was in the Center cemetery.

FELL AND DIED ON THE STREET

STRANGER FROM CHICAGO WAS STRICKEN THIS MORNING.

LYING FACE DOWNWARD

On the Terrace at Corner of Academy and Pleasant Streets, He Was Discovered by Chas. Roherty.

As Charles Roherty, who drives the Schlitz beer-wagon, was passing the corner of South Academy and Pleasant streets sometime before 7 o'clock this morning he saw a man lying face downward on the terrace with the head very near the street curb. The attitude was not such as to suggest repose, the mouth and nostrils being pressed into the sod. The face was black and Mr. Roherty believed at first that this victim of some mysterious misadventure was a colored man. As soon as he reached his side he turned the prostrate body over and propped the head up. As he did so the man seemed to take one long breath, but that was the last evidence of life. James Harris of the Harris Works and Engineer Irving Lawrence of the Janesville Machine Co. were on the scene a moment later and summons were hastily sent to City Marshal Comstock and Dr. Pembler. The body was still warm when the latter arrived but he had been dead some minutes. Blood had been flowing from a slight wound just to the side of the right eye, evidently sustained when the stranger fell heavily to the ground, stricken in all probability with apoplexy or some similar malady. The body was removed to Ryan's undertaking rooms and inquiries were at once started.

Stopped at Ottoman House

It was soon learned that the man had come to Janesville yesterday, evidently in search of work, and had passed the night at the Ottoman House. In his effects left at that hostelry was a card from the Chicago labor office of Asping & Sweet stating that the bearer, Fred Meyers, was qualified for a job at $1.50 a day on the North-Western railroad. His ticket over the same road was dated June 5. His other possessions included a box of snuff, a pouch of tobacco, a knife, razor and soap, a cheap nickel case watch and a red bandana handkerchief. Thomas Madden said in reply to inquiries that Meyers had put in an appearance just before supper time last night and asked for board and lodging. He had spent the early part of the evening in the office of the hotel, quietly sitting in one of the chairs. He made no visits to the bar. This morning he had his breakfast and Mr. Madden believes started over to the scene of the sever work in the hope of securing a job there, having apparently been disappointed in the railroad yards. The police saw him hanging about the latter yesterday afternoon.

Thirty-Eight Years Old

Whether or not the man's home was in Chicago, if indeed he had any home, is a matter of conjecture. It is probable that as in the case of the suicide a few days ago, no one will appear to claim the body. He was about thirty-eight years of age, rather short in stature, light complexioned, and sharp featured with a light sandy mustache. He wore the ordinary workman's garb.

BROTHER OF ENOCH TAYLOR OWNED LARGE COTTON FARM

Of 300 Acres Near Plantation Where He Was Born in Summit,
Mississippi.

Some unfortunate errors crept into an account of the death in Summit, Miss., of Patrick Taylor, brother of Enoch Taylor of this city, published in these pages a few days ago. The deceased was ninety-five years of age and worked his own cotton farm of 200 acres, near the plantation where he was born. He had owned this farm thirty-five years, his ten children helping to pay for it. His wife continues to live there with a widowed daughter, though the farm is now worked by a tenant.

Graduates from Pillsbury: Charles Russell Zeininger of this city, a nephew of Misses Carolina and Gertrude Zeininger, will graduate from Pillsbury Military Academy at Owatonna, Minnesota, this month. The commencement exercises will be held Wednesday morning, the fourteenth. Invitations have been received by friends here.

OPENING DANCE AT GOLF LINKS

Last Evening Proved a Very Enjoyable
Affair—Several Out of Town
Visitors Present.

One of the first and most enjoyable dances of the summer season was given at the Sunnyside Golf Club pavilion last evening. The night was an ideal one and the music discoursed by Knoff & Hatch's orchestra was exceptionally good. A feature of the evening's entertainment was a solo by George Hatch with harp accompaniment. The clubhouse has been re-papered and a number of pretty pictures hung on the walls, giving to the interior a very cozy and cheery aspect. The qualifying rounds for the Fifield trophy were not played yesterday afternoon owing to the absence of some of the best of the lady players. Chef Reeder served a very tempting supper at seven o'clock. Among the out-of-town guests at the dance were: Fred Leabey of Milwaukee, Miss Underhill of Quincy, Florida, and Mr. Wheelock of Racine.

THE STORM GODS ON THE SIDE OF DIETZ

Pioneer Who Held Cameron Dam
Aided by the Recent Flood in Miraculous Way.

George Appleby, who was a member of the famous expedition of United States Marshals against John Dietz at Cameron Dam, is not surprised at the report that Cameron dam has gone out. He states that while there a few days ago he noticed that the timbers in the dam proper were in a very rotten condition. The Chippewa Boom company who have been seeking to close the dam so as to float their six hundred thousand dollars' worth of logs down to their mills will now be total losers as with the dam once out Dietz can prevent their building a new one and these logs will lie and rot where they are unless they can buy the dam rights from Dietz.

MORE STORM DAMAGE DONE IN THE STATE

Another Cloudburst in the Central
Central Portion Occurred
Last Night.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-MORRIS]
Milwaukee, June 7.—Later reports of the storm damage in Wisconsin show an increase in general loss. Another storm in the middle section of the state last night flooded thousands of acres and ruined more crops. At Menasha all the paper mills are closed down. The Menasha Wooden Ware company this morning lost a raft of fifty thousand feet of lumber. The mills at Kaukauna are closed and at Chilton, Neenah, Elkhardt, Lake, Markesan and Beaver Dam the wires are down and railroads tied up. A great landslide almost filled Mirror lake, a resort near Dalton.

KICKERS' KOLUM

To the Street Commissioner: In this period of rains and sudden storms would it not be well for you to have all gutters kept clear of obstructions and not allow stones and other refuse to be piled in them?
"PROPERTY-OWNER."

An Appeal to Housewives: Butchers are unmercifully tongue-lashed for running their horses through the streets. Is not this caused to a great part by your failure to order your meat early enough to give the delivery delivery wagons going through the streets a few minutes before noon at breakfast speed with a small parcel of meat which the housekeeper had forgotten to order earlier in the day. Many times these poor overworked horses have been run a half mile with grocers' horses to do it. I have known of teams being driven several blocks just before noon with a half dozen bananas. Stop and consider the horse when you make your orders.

EMBALM ISSUE WITH FLOW OF FORENSICS

It Was an All Day Debate That Killed
Two-Cent Fare Bill—Fight Against Doctors Won.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., June 7.—"The embalming of an issue" is the designation currently given here to the all-day debate Tuesday in the senate on the two-cent passenger fare bill. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Henry Johnson of Oconto and was passed by the lower house with only two opposing votes. It is said that the assembly gave the bill insufficient consideration, but passed it up to the senate. After a great flow of senatorial forensics the bill was killed by non-concurrence, the vote being 11 to 15, with two senators paired in favor of it with two opposed. In general all the stalwart republicans were against the measure, together with three of the four democrats. The other democrat, Senator Randolph, voted for the bill, as did also the social democrat, Senator Rummel. There were great gains in the administration line. Senators Hudnall and Sanborn, who were powerful debaters in favor of the rate commission bill, took leading parts in the debate against the two-cent passenger fare measure. Senators Froemming, Stevens and Wilcox, who voted for the commission bill, but are not to be relied upon as administration men, voted with the opposition. Senator Frear was the leader in the arguments for the measure and Senator Hudnall was most active on the floor in opposing concurrence. It is said, and substantially admitted, that the two-cent fare proposition will be one of the chief issues of the next state campaign and that the administration will select as its gubernatorial candidate a man, who will make a fight for such a piece of legislation. The opponents of the so-called medical advertising bill got all they wanted in the revision that was concurred in by the senate Tuesday. As originally urged by the state board of medical examiners, the bill gave power to the examiners to revoke the license of any objectionable physician and prevent him from practicing his profession. No right of trial or appeal was provided for. As passed by the assembly the bill gave the examiners the right of revocation but provided that the suspended physician might appeal to the courts. The opposition demanded that the examiners be given merely the power to prosecute in the courts any objectionable physician. The senate concurred in the revision and the measure, but at the last moment an amendment was proposed giving all and a little more than demanded by the opposition to the original bill. There was no objection raised to this and the situation seemed exceedingly mysterious. It is learned that the reason for the sudden development is that Governor La Follette called the friends of the bill to the executive chamber and told them that if the bill was passed in the form as favored by the assembly he would veto it, as "abridging human rights."

GOOD MEETING WAS HELD LAST MONDAY

American Society of Equity Chapter
Organized in the Town of Harmony.

At the Harmony town hall on Monday last a chapter of the American Society of Equity was formed with William Connors of Harmony as president and John Pitcher of the same town as secretary. It was a most successful meeting and N. C. Crawley, the state president of the order, was present and explained the object and methods of the society. On Friday, June 23, another meeting is called for the same place to which every farmer is invited, and doubtless many who have not yet joined will affiliate themselves with the order. The order was founded in Indianapolis for the protection of the farmers' interests. The state of Kansas is the best organized of any of the states and the work of perfecting the organization in Wisconsin is rapidly going ahead. The tobacco-growers are especially requested to be present at the meeting on the 23d, as it is desired to organize the Rock county growers in order to cooperate with the growers in Dane and other counties where organizations have already been perfected. The question of profitable prices is a most important one, and one that every farmer is interested in. Farmers, take time to come to this meeting to learn about this great movement that is revolutionizing American agriculture by compelling just and profitable prices for all farm products.

LOCUSTS ARE BUSY LAYING THEIR EGGS

Have To Do Lots of Work to Make Up for Their Long Inactivity.

Catching Up
"What are you making such a hideous racket about?" asked the caterpillar.
"Mind your own business?" retorted the seventeen-year locust. "This is the first chance I've had to make a noise since 1888!"
Whereupon he started up his buzz-saw again.

Swarms of the seventeen-year locusts have descended on Rock county and are covering the trees throughout the woods with their eggs. Scientists assert that this peculiar insect, which lives only a few weeks, although its eggs take seventeen years to hatch, is not dangerous to vegetation. The adult insect eats little during its life, but the holes which it cuts in the bark of twigs to carry its eggs oftentimes cause harm. These eggs, one month after they are laid, hatch into small white grubs, which fall to the ground, burrow into the soil, curl up in cells near the tree roots and lie dormant for seventeen years, after which they crawl out and within an hour change into full-fledged cicadas.

Commander Mayhew was president of the day. Martial music was furnished by the South Clinton band and the song service was rendered by the high school chorus in a very pleasing manner.

Rev. Clyde McGee was orator of the day and delivered an address which was pronounced by many to be one of the best ever given here on a similar occasion.

Rev. E. F. Judson gave a pleasing address at the grave of the unknown dead. After the program the graves of the soldier dead were decorated and the homeward march was made.

SAVE POTATO SEED.

Do Not Try to Raise Crop from the Left-Overs in the Bin in the Spring.

It would have been well to have selected potato seed in the field, when the formation and thrift of the top could be taken into consideration, and when the number of well-formed and medium-sized potatoes in the hills could have been known and been used in part as a determining quantity.

For it is not enough that a tuber be of good size; it is desired that it be one of many of the same size growing from the same stalk. But the time for that kind of selection is past, and the farmer must do the next best thing.

It has been the habit of many of our farmers to put their potatoes in bins in the cellar, retaining for themselves for food and seed one large bin full. The potatoes in this bin are repeatedly picked over for cooking, till, when planting time came in the spring, most of the potatoes left were small ones.

The planting of these small tubers does not affect the crop the first year, but when continued, it does materially injure the size of the tubers grown and otherwise deter the crop.

It must be remembered that the high quality we now have in potato varieties was put there by constant selection and breeding, and not by breeding alone. We cannot ignore this and retain the value of any variety. The "running-out" of varieties is due to a very large extent to the lack of care that is shown them by the man that cultivates them.

In the selection of potatoes in the bin a few important points have to be looked out for. One of these is to select medium-sized tubers. There is no objection in selecting overgrown tubers. The day of big things has gone by. We want a medium-sized potato because that size is best for cooking and is economical in preparing for the table. A small potato is largely wasted unless it is cooked in its skin. A common method is to peel potatoes before they are cooked, and for such work a small potato is undesirable. Small potatoes are largely unsalable. Big potatoes take too long to cook, and therefore are not regarded highly by the housewife.

A good deal of attention should be paid to the smoothness of the potato, as a smooth potato is more economical to use than an uneven one. A potato with knobs all over it should not be selected for seed. It is not desirable to propagate the knobs, as they are practically so much waste material.

Another thing that should be looked after carefully is the formation of the eyes, whether they are near the surface or are sunk deep into the potato. The ones that lie near the surface are the ones that should be propagated. The deep eyes are the cause of much loss in preparing potatoes for the table. The one that digs them out is very seldom careful to cut close, and the deep and wasteful gouges greatly reduce the edible portion of the potato.

Uniformity should be regarded in making the selection, as that adds something to the selling value of potatoes. It will be seen that the selection should be made at as early a period as possible as it will be difficult to get a uniform lot even at this time. After many of the potatoes are used or sold it will be still more difficult.

The above process repeated year by year will give an improvement in the variety being grown, and it is doubtful if a variety so treated will run out at all.—Farmers' Review.

A WINTER WHEELBARROW.
Plan for One Which Will Prove a Friend Indeed When Snow Is on the Ground.

A very convenient and useful wheelbarrow may be constructed as follows, says Farm and Home: From a piece of two-inch plank cut a runner, a

Then make two rear runners, b, of brace iron or wooden wagon felloes. Frame these together and attach to front runner by the bed pieces, c, which are 2 1/2 inches wide, one inch thick, 3 1/2 feet long. Put in the rocking pin, e, as long as the width of the bed. Attach it to the bed pieces, c, by a piece of hard wood, d. This should fit tightly through the upright part of the runner, a.

Windmills in the West. A novel but practical feature of western prairie life is the use of an almost innumerable number of windmills, not only for raising water to the surface for use on the farm, but very many are now being used to furnish power for running two-horse or three-horse power dynamos to store up electricity for power, light and heat, and in some cases for cooking purposes, also. Small areas are being irrigated by elevating the water by means of wind-engines in the southwestern section of the country, where a great underflow of water has recently been discovered to exist near the surface. To use the wind to raise water to grow never-failing crops to sell and liquidate the mortgage is a good idea.—Farm and Fireside.

Keep Records.
How shall a farmer prevent himself from making the same mistake year after year? By keeping records of what he is doing. A man may have soil so ill adapted to a certain crop that he cannot make that crop pay. Yet if he does not keep a strict account with the crop he cannot know whether it pays or not.—Farmers' Review.

A 15-year-old son of Leonard Meyer of the town of Summit was killed with a .22 caliber rifle in the hands of a companion named Fessy, the ball entering his forehead.

Summer Terrors

An itching, burning skin disease during the hot, sultry summer weather, is a positive terror and a veritable demon of discomfort. The intolerable itching and stinging are tantalizing almost beyond endurance, and the unsightly eruption and rough, red skin keep one thoroughly uncomfortable and miserable night and day. Eczema, Tetter, and diseases of this type are caused by acid poisons in the blood, which the heat of summer seems to warn into life and renewed activity. These fiery acids keep the blood in a riotous and sour condition, and the skin unhealthy and feverish—they inflame the pores and retard perspiration, when the whole body feels like an over-heated furnace, and the escaping poison burns and blisters like liquid fire. To the skin disease sufferer, summer time brings no joy, but is a season of unrest, sleepless nights and incessant pain, resulting in shattered nerves, physical exhaustion and general derangement of all the vital forces. Scratching is a pleasant recreation to one tormented and almost distracted by an aggravating itching skin eruption. Some find temporary relief in bathing and the application of lotions and salves. A few hours respite is gained by such methods, but nothing applied externally can alter the condition of the blood

TORMENTING ECZEMA.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May, 1895.

In 1896 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. As time went by it grew worse. I had read medicine in my early twenties (now 50 years of age) and was convinced that I was afflicted with a type of Eczema. I consulted several physicians and a number of specialists, and used several external applications, one of which was claimed to be a certain specific. I confess, however, I had but little faith in external applications, yet I used them, receiving but slight temporary relief.

In February I decided to try S. S. S. and in less than a month I experienced a change for the better, and by May of that year all symptoms had disappeared, and I found myself entirely cured, and have had no return of the disease since.

or check the outflow of the burning fluids through the skin. Only persistent and faithful constitutional treatment can do this. The acid poison in the blood, which is the real cause of the eruption, must be attacked, and when the blood has been cleared of all accumulated impurities and restored to a healthy condition, then, and only then, will a thorough and lasting cure be effected, and for the accomplishment of all this, no remedy equals S. S. S., which contains all requirements for cleansing and building up the acid blood, and invigorating and toning up the system. S. S. S. completely and permanently eradicates every vestige of poison, thus effectually preventing a fresh outbreak of the disease.

Cases that have resisted ordinary treatment for years, yield to the purifying, cooling effects of S. S. S. upon the blood, and when rich, pure blood is again circulating through the system, the itching and stinging cease, the eruption disappears, and the red, rough skin becomes soft and smooth again.

Skin diseases appear in various forms—sometimes in pustules or blisters, sores, rashes, or red, disfiguring bumps and pimples—but all are caused by a bad condition of the blood, and for which S. S. S. is a safe and effectual cure. No bad effects can come from its use, because it contains no Arsenic, Potash or other harmful drugs, but is guaranteed a strictly vegetable remedy.

If you are a sufferer from some summer terror like Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Nettle Rash or kindred disease, write us about it, and medical advice or any special information wanted will be given without charge.

Our Book on Skin Diseases will be sent free to all desiring it.

Found "Seven Barks" A Splendid Medicine For Kidney and Liver.

On November 27, 1933, Mrs. Lucie E. Champagne, of Central Nassau, N. Y., writes us: "I have used your Seven Barks with excellent results. I think it is a splendid medicine for Kidney and Liver troubles, and it cannot be beat for Constipation. Accept my thanks for what it has done for me. I was in a bad shape when I commenced using it, and I am a well woman today."

If your kidneys trouble you, if your liver is sluggish, or if you are constipated, there's no remedy like Seven Barks. It is purely vegetable, easy to take (small dose) and will get you right quicker than anything else. If you've any doubts about it, a 30-cent bottle of Seven Barks will remove them, and the money isn't ours until you say you're cured. Your word decides it, not ours. No cure, no pay. That's our way of getting skeptical people to try this grand old remedy. Do you know of a better way?

THE ITCHING WAS TERRIBLE.

Escondido, San Diego Co., Cal., Oct. 1900. Dear Sir:—My body broke out with a rash or eruption. The itching, especially at night, was simply terrible; it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many preparations without benefit, and hearing of S. S. S. determined to give it a fair trial; a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and pimple from my body.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.
For three years I had Tetter on my hands, which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores, very painful, and causing me much discomfort. Four doctors said the Tetter had progressed too far to be cured, and they could do nothing for me. I took only three bottles of S. S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago, and I have never since seen any sign of my old trouble.
